Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1400 on Friday 09 Apr 2021

UK Outlook for Saturday 24 Apr 2021 to Saturday 8 May 2021:
Confidence remains low for this period, however, mixed and slowly evolving weather patterns, typical of spring, are most likely through the late-April into May. Fine and dry weather is likely to be more prevalent overall, especially during late-April, with this signal waning during May, although all areas are likely to see some showers or longer spells of rain at times. Temperatures probably close to average with some warmer spells are possible at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.